so, i am thinking of suggesting the other water soluble one on your list, pravastatin, which looks like it has gone generic, too.

"it was march when i realised my brain was burned out," he wrote these effects seem to be more prominent in ambulatory patients and in those who are not suffering severe pain